First Homes Built in Hastings, Melbourne, Australia

Meredith Simpson has recently completed her second home in Hastings. Hastings is a small township 40 minutes by freeway from Melbourne and on the Eastern side of the prestigious suburban Mornington Peninsula area.

Hastings has excellent Vastu – most of the streets, buildings and new subdivisions are all orientated very close to True North, South, East and West. It also has auspicious sloping land and water position, early and clear sunrise and a relaxed pleasant location on Westernport Bay.

The new home has 3 bedrooms, ensuite and bathroom, kitchen, living room, study, meditation room, laundry, powder room, verandah and entry area. The 2 car carport is outside the Vastu fence. It has a waffle pod foundation, timber and carpet floors, brick external walls and plasterboard internal walls and ceilings. The raised Brahmasthan podium in the living area, the Plinth around the house which elevates the house above ground level and the Kalash mounted on the colourbond pitched roof distinguish the building as a Fortune Creating Home.

Meredith has rented this home to 3 Sidhas (a Governor, an active Panchakarma technician and a long term Sidha). They have reported some very evolutionary experiences and say their programmes in the specifically designed meditation room are deep and enlivening.

Currently there are 3 Governors, 10 Sidhas and 11 Meditators who live or own land/houses in Hastings which is greater than the required coherence number for this location and others are in the process of moving there.

Meredith completed the first MSV house in Hastings 2.5 years ago in an adjoining subdivision which was sold to an enthusiastic Governor. The home stands on concrete stumps, has T&G timber flooring and Weathertex external cladding. Previously she rectified an existing Hastings house quite some time ago when Rectification Consultations were available and built a unit onto the rear of the house. The house was purchased by Jan Charlwood, a long term and well known stalwart Governor and she carries out many Movement Courses and activities, teaching and daily programme there and the unit is now available as temporary and holiday accommodation for Sidhas and Meditators. Jan, who was the first person to bring the good Vastu of Hastings to the attention of the MSV office, recently wrote the following about Meredith - "The First Lady of Hastings: First to buy a house here; First to move here; First to rectify; First to build a MSV house here; First to build a second MSV house here. You have greatly increased the potential for growth of consciousness for Hastings, for Australia, for the world."

Meredith has almost completed plans for a further 2 Fortune Creating Homes on a block which she is planning to sub-divide. One house has been pre-sold and the other will probably be leased. She has one more vacant building lot close by.

Congratulations Meredith on a huge undertaking with very successful results. With several other Fortune Creating Homes being built in the same area and with the numbers of Meditators and Sidhas increasing, coherence is rising quickly. Indicators of higher levels of consciousness have been recorded by Jan. A complete history and explanation of the Hastings Community Concept can be seen on our website www.vedicarchitecture.com.au on the Home page under News & Events.

"People do not generally know that the orientation (North, South, East, West) of residential and office buildings contributes a great deal to success and progress in professional life; and health, happiness and fortune on the individual level." Maharishi
